09:02:38 From Sunitha To All Panelists : Selamat petang from Malaysia

09:02:40 From Joni Costello : Hola from Madrid! I am here with Patti, Sophie and Franco.

09:02:49 From irenealkemade : We need to be accepted to your presentation

09:02:54 From Cindy Pacholik : Xin chào from Cindy in Hanoi!

09:02:58 From Doline Ndorimana To All Panelists : Mwaramutse!
(kirundi from Burundi)

09:03:02 From Inma Hidalgo : Buenos días, Spain (my home country)
Goedemorgen NL (my host country)

09:03:03 From Mes Naomi To All Panelists : because you need to be multi-tasking.

09:03:06 From Elise van Holst : Goedemorgen, International School
Eindhoven, The Netherlands

09:03:08 From Darlyne Delaney : It requires the cooperation and support of many in order for success

09:03:21 From Georgina Rushe To All Panelists : Goedemorgen from the Netherlands and Dia duit from me!

09:03:34 From Sunitha : Selamat petang from Malaysia

09:03:54 From Maggie Salerno To All Panelists : communication and organization are necessary

09:03:56 From anneflynn : It requires a pilot and co-pilot

09:04:05 From Denise Sullivan : It takes a lot of moving parts to make it work

09:04:07 From Mindy McCracken : There is a pilot and a co pilot and they both need each other to navigate their way through to the destination

09:04:07 From Bea Bocz To All Panelists : ...you are in it together with a variety of people having a variety of experiences and ideas.

09:04:19 From Kate Anderson To All Panelists : You always get a bit nervous before starting out

09:04:34 From Alina Guzganu : You need to check-in (plan the lesson), then you enjoy the flight (the lesson), sometimes things turn out really well (get upgraded to 1st class). Passport control and exiting (reflection after the lesson)

09:04:35 From Sunitha : Co-planning is like flying because you can't go far without it.

09:04:39 From Christine Guarino : have to work with the copio

09:04:40 From betty molerot : deciding about a destination together
09:04:42 From Helen Vince : Every flight needs a co-pilot and every lesson benefits from two teachers with different roles and perspectives.
09:04:46 From Kuldeep : begin an adventure that takes you to new heights
09:04:51 From AGRAY To All Panelists : you can look out of the window and see where you're going 09:04:59 From Helen Absalom : If you are new (or old) to co-planning, you might be building the plane while flying it!
09:05:05 From Christine Guarino : have to work with the copilot so all the passengers (students) arrive at their destination
09:06:31 From betty molerot : bouncing back ideas
09:06:32 From irenealkemade : It can go anywhere, nothing is wrong
09:06:34 From Alina Guzganu : Everything goes (the sky is the limit)
09:06:37 From Maggie Salerno To All Panelists : Because two (or more heads) are better than one 09:06:40 From tousha To All Panelists : Two heads or more heads are better than one!
09:06:42 From sierra.gentleman To All Panelists : Receive instant feedback
09:06:42 From Maria Franco : You share ideas
09:06:44 From Kuldeep : because 2 heads give more than one 09:06:51 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : Because you are working with someone, in tandem. Teamwork.
09:06:55 From anneflynn : Gets everyone on the same page
09:06:57 From sierra.gentleman To All Panelists : Consider all the outcomes together
09:07:03 From Helen Absalom : It's flexible.
09:07:05 From betty molerot : help refining ideas talking it through
09:07:07 From clare : Low-risk if there is trust between the two teachers to explore ideas, try out new possibilities and take risks
09:07:08 From Helen Vince : You can share ideas and think aloud. You can take risks together and maybe end up being more creative.
09:07:11 From Joni Costello : there is no audience!
09:07:11 From Mei.Szabo To All Panelists : 大家好 from my Home C jó reggelt from my Hosting C

Co-planning is low-risk:

more perspectives to reduce bias

09:07:16 From Denise Sullivan : There is no audience- can take risks

09:07:25 From Sunitha : Because you get closer to your target when you have more discussion.

09:07:30 From Mejianer : There is feedback, two-way process.

09:07:34 From AGRAY To All Panelists : you give each other confidence

09:07:46 From betty molerot : developing ideas

09:07:53 From Kim Walker : more ideas and more possibilities

09:07:55 From Mei.Szabo To All Panelists : multi-dimensional coverage

09:07:56 From Kimberly Guiry To All Panelists : Best professional development is coplanning and coteaching

09:07:58 From betty molerot : dul creativity
09:08:00 From tousha : Different experiences bring a richer result..
09:08:02 From Elise van Holst : High yield, because you have planned beforehand
09:08:02 From anneflynn : As teachers we feed off each other and get more excited as we talk 09:08:03 From betty molerot : dual 09:08:03 From Denise Sullivan : Planning for success for more students
09:08:03 From Kuldeep : two different brains have different perspectives, leading to wonderful things 09:08:06 From clare : two people bring all their experiences, knowledge, training. Two minds to challenge and extend their shared understanding
09:08:08 From Darlyne Delaney : More ideas generated lead to more opportunities for reaching all learners.
09:08:08 From Christine Guarino : students can get more out of the lesson when the ideas and actions of two people are combined. the outcome is greater than the sum of its parts 09:08:09 From Maggie Salerno To All Panelists : more support for the kids
09:08:11 From Joni Costello : because two heads are better than one!
09:08:11 From Mes Naomi : multi-dementional 09:08:12 From Sunitha : Because you get closer to your target when you plan together.
09:08:13 From Helen Vince : Different perspectives and skills 09:08:19 From Lisa MUNGLES : You make difference to all the students
09:08:19 From Kelly Kerr : perspecitive
09:08:21 From betty molerot : shared experiences 09:08:22 From Maria Franco : The outcome can be more creative and you are more likely to take more risks
places. When you combine content teacher's knowledge and language teacher's understanding, you can plan actions to support your students.
09:08:24 From irenealkemade : You complete each other 09:08:24 From Mitch Hughes To All Panelists : Teacher knowledge gaps are filled by each other 09:08:25 From Anna Da Silva To All Panelists : More perspectives, cover more bases
09:08:27 From Kimberly Guiry To All Panelists : Effective use of adults to differentiate 09:08:30 From Mejianer : It produces better results since there is feedback
09:08:31 From Helen Absalom : It's more inclusive. More perspectives for more children.
09:08:32 From Tricia DeMint To All Panelists : Motivation!
09:08:45 From Kate Anderson : Both teachers know what to expect and can work more effectively in the lesson 09:09:49 From Mei.Szabo To All Panelists : From teachers point of view: affirmation of knowledge/possibilities (feeling secure during delivery.

From students' point of view: witnessing teachers are cooperating, it's a sustainable learning experience for them

09:10:30 From clare : I think it's good to model risk-taking in front of children and how to learn from mistakes IF the culture is right between the teachers

09:11:12 From Mei.Szabo To All Panelists : I agree with Clare.

09:12:03 From Helen Vince : Always put the biggest rocks in first..

09:12:09 From Kim Walker : stone pebbles sand

09:12:13 From MICHELA PITTINO : the big stones, pebbles and then sand

09:12:13 From Isabelle : first the pebbles and stones then the sand

09:12:14 From Mes Naomi : stones, pebbles, sand

09:12:14 From betty molerot : stones-pebble/sand

09:12:14 From Christine Guarino : stone, pebbles, sand

09:12:15 From Maria Franco : Stone pebbles and sand

09:12:15 From Denise Sullivan : sand goes last

09:12:16 From Florence Yersin To All Panelists : biggest tock

09:12:17 From Inka Szablinski To All Panelists : Stone, pebbles sand

09:12:17 From Sunitha : Large stone, pebbles and followed by sand.

09:12:17 From Mejianer : Stones, pebbles then sand

09:12:20 From Xavier Nivera : stone pebbles sand

09:12:22 From Bea Bocz To All Panelists : stone, pebbles, sand

09:12:24 From j.bechara : Stone, pebbles and sand

09:12:26 From Kuldeep To All Panelists : stone, pebbles, sand

09:12:27 From irenealkemade : Pebbles sand stone so the sand can go in between the pebbles

09:12:33 From Stephanie Drynan : As the above... :-)

09:12:33 From winnie.chege To All Panelists : stone, pebbles, sand

09:12:38 From tousha : Same, I would go with stones, pebble and sand.

09:12:39 From Loredana : Big medium sand

09:13:02 From Magali Brutel : stone sand pebbles

09:14:54 From betty molerot : less for low yield

09:14:56 From sierra.gentleman To All Panelists : Greater idea of what's coming -- long term goals established

09:14:58 From Denise Sullivan : It's long term planning

09:14:58 From Mei.Szabo To All Panelists : sustainability

09:14:58 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : It's holistic, you are involved with planning from the start.

09:15:00 From Maria Franco : Long term outcome

09:15:09 From Helen Absalom : It's transferrable and sustainable.

09:15:09 From Anna Da Silva To All Panelists : You have to know where you are going, the destination.

09:15:17 From Helen Vince : Both teachers are invited to contribute to this and this utilises both teachers' skills

09:15:23 From betty molerot : extended repeated in list

09:15:28 From winnie.chege : Long term planning...better overview of the goals you are aiming for

09:15:30 From Kim Walker : more creative , focus on skills and concepts

09:15:33 From Bea Bocz To All Panelists : it goes from the big picture to the small detail

09:15:39 From clare : Working at long or medium term planning with leaders of curriculum, or working on providing training for teachers. Impact can be beyond your time in each classroom

09:15:42 From Anna Da Silva To All Panelists : High yield co-planning is meatier, transferrable as well

09:15:57 From irenealkemade : Good for IB collaborative planning

09:16:02 From Lisa MUNGLES : Balance of language and content

09:23:26 From Carlos Rico : Are the acronyms used consistently throughout the school?

09:27:37 From Deborah Perrin To All Panelists : we have a question for TAN

09:32:20 From Inka Szablinski To All Panelists : What does your co-planning look at the HS level?

09:36:28 From Inka Szablinski To All Panelists : Can you share that slide with us? Thank you!

09:37:12 From Tan Huynh : https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1UHPZsWsyPzomSgoNcBYTnu_g0u0F6Q71rJmbic0LQ0A/edit#slide=id.gbc0b2b6b62_0_4

09:37:34 From Kate Anderson : Do you then teach in this way in sheltered language lessons or within the mainstream class?

09:38:32 From Maria Franco : Is this model used in all subjects such as Science or Maths?

09:38:47 From betty molerot : acronym OREO for persuasive

09:39:11 From Patrick Jefford To All Panelists : Your second Google link has restricted access.. :-(

09:40:14 From Maria Franco : Both links seem to be restricted

09:40:16 From Tan Huynh : https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/10iWzGfL5yFJ9YEaKwLgNuSTV_pyqpbvMi9dVmd1bP1w/edit#slide=id.ga2b518c2dc_0_28

09:40:51 From Kate Anderson : Thank you, so generous, sharing your resources in this way.

09:42:32 From Deborah Perrin To All Panelists : Great examples Tan thank you

09:42:33 From Eva : Thank you for sharing your resources 🌸

09:44:26 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : I love the way you are simply listening and giving encouragement by facial expression only; facilitating student-student talk time. :-)

09:44:31 From betty molerot : System: morning stations to maximise small tasks

09:45:03 From Ana Blanxer To All Panelists : Thanks for your generosity on sharing your work!

09:46:55 From Deborah Perrin : Any more questions or comments?

09:48:08 From Kuldeep : Thank you Tan for openly sharing your resources and wonderful systems and ideas. Great food for thought.

09:48:42 From Gezina Gillen : How did you create an ethos of co-planning within the school? Does this happen across the whole school? Would you describe what you do as partnership teaching or something else?

09:48:45 From irenealkemade : How much time do you spend on co-planning?

09:51:23 From Carlos Rico To All Panelists : Can you share this presentation too?

09:53:19 From Bea Bocz To All Panelists : Thanks a lot!! Have to teach a class now.

09:53:58 From Helen Vince : I love how you are valuing your colleagues. It's so important to create a safe space full of respect as this means that co-teaching and planning happens in a positive way.

09:53:59 From Patrick Jefford To All Panelists : please share...! I love these

09:54:15 From Tan Huynh : https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1vta9yAa9uAuqWs63N0Peu-4Fi0q-cJsLGBd2fAjmftc/edit#slide=id.gbebb71e08a_0_971

09:54:44 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : We also need access to this last link. Thank you again for your generosity!

09:54:52 From betty molerot : How much do you involved your students into your co-planning?

09:56:11 From Tan Huynh : https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1vta9yAa9uAuqWs63N0Peu-4Fi0q-cJsLGBd2fAjmftc/edit#slide=id.gbebb71e08a_0_985

09:56:32 From betty molerot : IB agentivity

09:57:18 From Deborah Perrin To All Panelists : 3 minutes left

09:57:56 From Curt Marvin Cruz : Hi Tan! If you have a colleague who is new with the idea of co-planning, what are your interventions to let the new colleague deeply understand the concept of co-planning? It takes a lot of rapport, time and courage to convince people with different perspectives.

09:58:27 From Joana Santos To All Panelists : really helpfull your presentation. Congratulation

09:58:41 From betty molerot : dismantle

09:58:52 From irenealkemade : Red: stop waiting

09:59:06 From clare : I agree Curt - it definitely takes a long time to build the relationship with a teacher to set the ground work for effective collaboration. My first step would be to show them that I can bring value to their classroom and practice!

09:59:16 From Denise Sullivan : Green light: try to use BATS

09:59:19 From Sunitha : Green - Use BATS

09:59:20 From betty molerot : yellow:low-yield

09:59:20 From Carlos Rico : Green: Long term co-planning

09:59:23 From Mitch Hughes To All Panelists : Green: help teachers with templates and systems

09:59:26 From Anna Castellazzi : Red: I will stop suggesting new ideas instead of building upon what my co-teachers offer

09:59:31 From irenealkemade : Green: more contact with teachers

09:59:32 From Mes Naomi : Green - Start with Stones

09:59:37 From betty molerot : green:yes BATS all the way!!!!

09:59:38 From Maggie Salerno To All Panelists : Green- BATS!

09:59:38 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : I will stop trying to plan lesson by lesson. I will do more observation and relationship building with my colleagues, to get to know them and their styles better I will try to be engaged in big pebble high yield planning.

09:59:45 From Patrick Jefford To All Panelists : Green... Change my way of reacting when co-teachers change planning last minute

09:59:49 From Mindy McCracken : Green light: I like the idea of having model writing next to a place where students can create their own.

09:59:50 From winnie.chege : Green light... Have a more construct mindset.

09:59:52 From Mes Naomi : Green - building onto the expertise of our colleagues

09:59:52 From Maria Franco : Orange: Planning individually and short term

09:59:54 From Curt Marvin Cruz : Green - cultivate the value and give more time for collaboration

10:00:01 From tousha : Thank you...amazing presentation. Yellow - Take time to think about steps. Green - use acronyms and think about what is the outcome.

10:00:02 From Kate Anderson : Fantastic advice and approach to working with colleagues - thank you!

10:00:02 From Mes Naomi : Red - planning short term

10:00:03 From Helen Absalom : Green: Co-plan with students.

10:00:04 From Maria Franco : Thanks so much. Enlightening.

10:00:09 From Carlos Rico : Great job! Thanks.

10:00:10 From Alexandra Knubel To All Panelists : Thank you

10:00:15 From sierra.gentleman To All Panelists : Thank you so much

10:00:20 From Anna Da Silva To All Panelists : Thank you!

10:00:20 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : Can the chat be shared?

10:00:22 From Inka Szablinski To All Panelists : Green: I will befriend Tan on Facebook

10:00:22 From Isabelle : Thank you very much ! Merci beaucoup!

10:00:23 From clare : Thanks Tan! Thanks for the resources, and for all the insights you shared. Deeply appreciated

10:00:25 From MARIA SANCHEZ : Thank you!

10:00:27 From MICHELA PITTINO : Thank you so much for sharing your experience with us!

10:00:28 From Ana Blanxer To All Panelists : Can you share the screen of the windows, sliding doors and mirrors, please?

10:00:28 From Mes Naomi : Thank you so much for generously sharing your resources and philosophy. Thoroughly enjoyed the session.

10:00:31 From j.bechara : Thanks Tan!

10:00:31 From Joana Santos To All Panelists : loved it

10:00:32 From Joanne Whitson To All Panelists : The chat will be shared with all 10:00:33 From Georgina Rushe : Thank you so much for your generosity Tan!

10:00:34 From Lisa MUNGLES : Thank you!

10:00:34 From Maria Franco : Gracias and I will definitely be using your ideas.

10:00:35 From Magali Brutel : Thank you so much!

10:00:36 From irenealkemade : Thank you..You are passionate as well!

10:00:37 From Cindy Pacholik : Thank you so much, Tan! Thank you for brightening up a dreary Hanoi afternoon!

10:00:38 From Mitzi Ingram : Great session, Thanks Tan.

10:00:40 From winnie.chege : Thank you Tan for your generosityresources, ideas. Asante sana.

10:00:41 From Maggie Salerno To All Panelists : Thank you, Tan! This was excellent!

10:00:45 From Helen Vince : Thank you, Tan. Always enjoy listening to you and learning from you!

10:00:46 From Curt Marvin Cruz : Wonderful and very empowering presentation, Mr. Tan! Thank you so much.

10:00:48 From Maria Franco : You are definitely a model to follow.

10:00:49 From mercyi To All Panelists : Great presentation! Thank you Tan!

10:00:49 From Jess Lawrie : Thank you – that was a really great session. Wishing you all the best. Stay safe!

10:00:50 From Tricia DeMint To All Panelists : Thank you!

10:00:50 From Loredana : YOU SHARED WITH US FANTASTIC TOOLS. GRAZIE!

10:00:54 From Kim Walker : Red/stop suggesting new ideas yellow/Green/ Plan with more teachers

10:00:57 From Nicola.Minchin : Thanks Tan from Madrid!

10:00:58 From Gezina Gillen : So helpful, thank you Tan. Great job facilitating Deb and Patience.

10:01:02 From Elise van Holst : Thank you Tan for this very pragmatic session and openly sharing your fantastic planning ideas!

10:01:06 From Ana Clercx To All Panelists : Thank you so much for this wonderful presentation and sharing your resources

10:01:11 From Kuldeep : Thank you for being so inspiring!

10:01:11 From Kim Walker : Thank you you are so postive

10:01:12 From Xavier Nivera : Thank you Tan!

10:01:12 From Inka Szablinski To All Panelists : Thanks Tan. Your energy, knowledge and positivity is greatly appreciated.

10:01:12 From Helen Absalom : Diolch yn fawr. Thank you very much, Tan.

10:01:13 From Mejianer : You are a star, Tan! Thank you for sharing all your resources to us. I really appreciate it!

10:01:13 From jessica.bline To All Panelists : Thank you very much! Fantastic!

10:01:15 From Marian Cazabon-Blok : Thank you!
